

PERSON-CENTERED TRANSFORMATIONAL CARE PLANNING (TCP)

What is TCP?

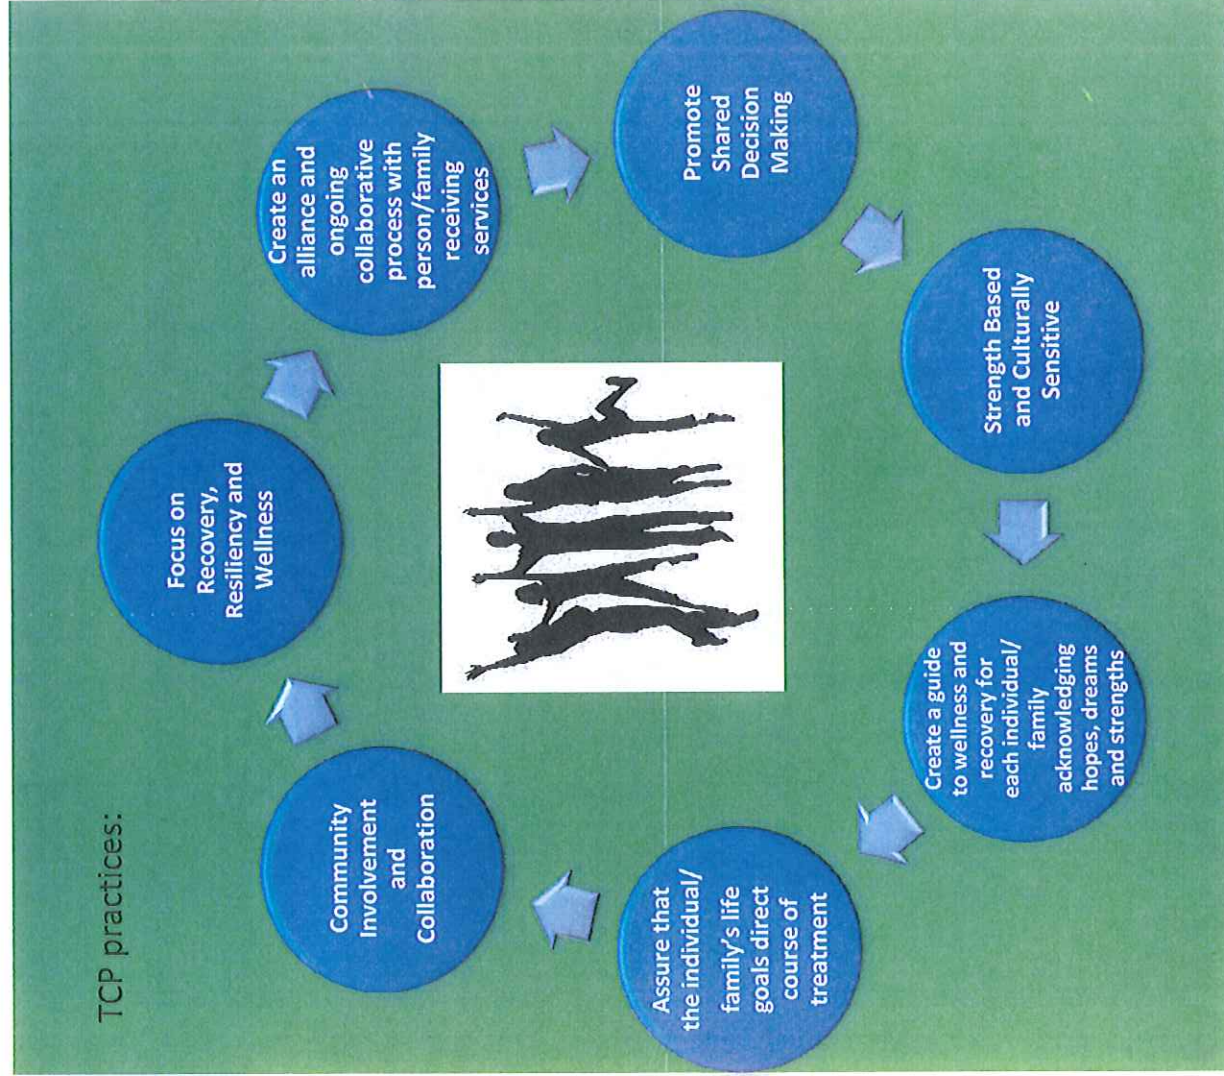

TCP is a service planning model which builds on the principles of inclusion, hope, wellness, resiliency, and recovery. It is an ongoing collaborative process between an individual or family and his or her service provider(s).

Why do we need TCP?

Person-centered/family driven service planning is an integral strategy for helping consumers and families achieve their life goals. It is organized around the consumer's/family's own needs. It integrates specific mental health services and supports to help people achieve goals. Mental Health Service Act (MHSA) is a systemic response to develop and sustain this process.

How will TCP be implemented in our County?

TCP will be implemented in our county in phases. Pilot teams have been trained and are currently receiving technical support. We are now at the point of developing a Training Program which will address training in different areas: trainers, coaches, supervisors and staff. Operational Support; QI Support, Quality Improvement and Fidelity to the model are ongoing issues to be addressed.

Adopted from the document:
 "Transformational Care Planning in California,
 A short Implementation Overview"

Next Steps:

